

Lacune in CDM efforts: study

New Delhi: Lacunae in the current clean development mechanism (CDM) framework has slowed down efforts to address greenhouse gas mitigation and sustainable developmental objectives, according to a Ficci report calling for a CDM-friendly regime. In its report released on Tuesday, climate change task force deliberated in detail on the lacunae in the present CDM system which otherwise it noted was a "most effective, positive action mobilising industry engagement in mitigation action."
